PBBDBD Merinda Jane Morrison, born May 2, 1890 at the Glen. On January 3, 1946 she wrote: "I really never know much about the Parkers. My grandmother was Jane Parker. She married James Morrison. My father, Henry, was one of 11 children, 5 of whom died young: Rachel, Merinda, Sarah, Fanny, and little Jim. I think 4 of these 5 died of diphtheria, leaving the other 6 living, of whom 2 are still living. My first husband was Richard V. Matthews. He passed away 20 years ago past, on October 28. I came to the Eastern Townships to visit his family and 4 years later on December 3, 1930 married Dalby Stephen Orr of East Angus, QC, and reside on a farm four miles out of East Angus. I know very little of my grandmother's people. I remember having met her brothers, Richard and Joe, who visited Grandma when I was very small. The two Morrison families (PBBA & PBBD) lived not far from each other all their married lives. William lived in Shrewsbury and James lived in The Glen on a farm. Dad's farm joined it, and Uncle Tom's farm joined ours. My nephew, Keith Amos Morrison now owns Uncle Tom's farm. My brother Walter of Verdun owns the house where my grandparents Morrison lived until they died. He has it for a summer home. Grandmother Jane Parker Morrison was a grand woman. We all loved her so much. She was so genuine and good. How I used to like to go and help her when I was a little girl, and she would let us hold pieces of paper on the spinning-wheel when she was spinning, and would tell us riddles, etc.. She could make men's and boys' clothing. Many times she helped my mother make clothes for Dad and the boys. I have never had any children of my own, but my first husband and I took two little boys. The oldest one, Clarence Herbert Matthews, was my husband's nephew. His daddy was accidentally killed by a train and left his wife with 5 little ones. We took Clarence before he was 5 years old. He is now married and living in Toronto. The other little boy was no relation but a next door neighbor. His mother died when Ward was 15 months old. He was the baby in a family of 5. We took him and, sad to say, he died overseas, January 1, 1945. It has been a dreadful shock to me. He was like my very own. Then Mr. Orr and I took little Edgar in December 1938, so he is the only one we have with us now. His mother was my own cousin. She died and left 9 little children, so we took Edgar. He will be 13 in March 1946. He is a fine healthy boy, going to East Angus high school. We live on a farm about 4 miles from the village. Edgar is a twin. My sister Mary has his twin sister, Evelyn, and my sister Edith has a brother. My cousin, Elsie (Edgar's own mother) had two sets of twins, two girls, Margaret and Elizabeth, and Edgar and Evelyn My grandmother had a cousin, Dawson Elliott, who lost his mind and always lived alone. He visited Grandma very often. I lived with my brother Robert (PBBDBA) and kept house for him for 2 or 3 years when he first bought his farm. I was then 19. The two Morrison families, married in 1857, were all members of the Anglican Church. My mother was born in Chatham and moved to Wentworth Township when she was 5. Her mother's name was Eliza Curran and married Arthur Tomalty. I never saw Arthur Tomalty; he died when I was a baby East Angus is a mill town. The Brompton Pulp and Paper Co. employ the most of the population of East Angus. It was just a year ago I learned of the death of my foster son, Ward Robert Gain, overseas." In Verdun, QC, on December 3, 1929, Merinda married Dalby Stephen Orr, who was born August 24, 1896 at South Dudswell, QC, to Mary and Samuel Orr. He is a farmer and they have lived since 1929 at East Angus, QC, R.R. #2. In 1947 Merinda wrote that her health had not been too good. "All our family of 9 were together at Verda's wedding, June 7, 1949. We were all together June 1, 1946 at my sister Alice's 25th anniversary. We had a grand time, such a happy reunion, at my sister's home in Verdun, QC. Dear old Aunt Mary was with us then too." She wrote February 3, 1950: "I saw Aunt Mary, the only one left of her family, at the 40th wedding anniversary of my brother Walter, September 15, 1949, at Louisa Hall, QC. The celebration was given them by their 7 children who were all present. Also the members of my family were present."
